“A Friend Indeed: The Bill Sackter Story” is a new 90-minute documentary that explores the real life story of a man with intellectual disabilities. Bill Sackter, after living in a state center for the disabled, went on to lead a fulfilling life and influenced historic changes in society's perception of people with disabilities with nothing more than a smile, a harmonica, and a warm cup of coffee.

Created by Mid-America Emmy Award winning documentary filmmaker Lane Wyrick, this documentary puts a real face and personality on Bill Sackter, an individual that helped change our society for the better and who has become a folk hero for the disability community.
